TROUBLESHOOTING TIPS

1. Provide prompts right before desired behavior
2. Note that distant prompts are often less effective
3. Demand smaller amounts of behavior at the beginning
4. Break down the behavior and praise partial completion
5. Remember that knowing does not equal doing
6. Keep in mind that doing the behavior once does not mean consistency

TROUBLESHOOTING TIPS

7 Praise the positive behavior every time you see it

8 Praise the desired behavior immediately, effusively, concretely, and affectionately

9 Make sure your child wants to spend earned points

10 Base rewards on your child's interest

11 Consistently praise and reward positive behavior

12 Create a daily routine for your reward program